

The Pakitsoq Horizontal Ice Core Site in west Greenland. Ancient ice outcrops at the surface and can be sampled in large quantities.

Stable carbon isotopic composition of ancient methane indicates an unusually isotopically heavy methane source in pre-industrial time, and does not support a large input from methane hydrates.

sampling profile

